This RR ewe is a very pretty girl out of a ewe that never disappoints. I think this will be the first ewe she has produced to leave the farm, I like them so much. And it does not matter who she is paired with, she just grows them good!

This pair might well be the youngest ones, but they are a beautiful pair of ewe lambs. They are sired by our big Steinmetz ram out of home grown girls. It was hard to convince myself to let them go. They will not disappoint and they are RR to boot

We had a great crop of ewe lambs these past two seasons. These ewes clicked VERY well on our Yearling ram that was champion at Ohio and Indiana state fairs this past summer. Minimal input on these ewes and still look good! This ewe will be competitive at many places.

It gets so hot here for our spring lambs, that I think we are going to try to transition to late fall lambs for the large majority of the ewe flock. These two fall ewes are our first attempt at that. Thick, stout, and still easy to look at.

These two fall ewes were born two days before our daughter Hattie. So these two lambs have a little sentiment to them. We would like to keep them both, but neither keeping them or sentiment pays the bills.
